Iran War Risk Pillar Report

Middle East Conflict Risk — Researched, Scored, and Personally Committed

Originally written June 19, 2026; scores committed by me June 19, 2026. Fully re-researched July 8, 13, 18, 25, and 30, 2026; the Aug 5, 6, and 7 catch-ups were reviewed and stamped committed. This version (August 8) is a FULL WEEKLY refresh, superseding today's earlier light daily touch, and CUTS the 1mo/3mo scores. A full-week look (not just the last two days) surfaced five separate Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents between Jul 31 and Aug 5 that the daily "hold flat" checks missed or undercounted, plus a genuinely new front — Iran-backed Houthi forces struck Najran, Saudi Arabia on Aug 7, widening the conflict beyond direct US-Iran exchanges. The touted Iran-Oman Hormuz deal remains unsigned and one-sided as Iran itself describes it. P moves from 24/31/41/56/77 to 20/28/41/56/77. This version's scores have been reviewed and stamped committed by Alex — this was a full weekly refresh (never auto-stamped per the runbook) and a different pillar (Fed & Macro) also moved enough this cycle that the whole set was held for manual review; see My Decision below.

The Scores — Committed vs. Drafts

June column committed by me June 19, 2026 · every draft since shown for full lineage · Aug 7 (held flat) committed and stamped by Alex · Aug 8 was a FULL WEEKLY refresh — cut at 1mo/3mo after independent re-verification found a full week's worth of missed Hormuz attacks and a new front — reviewed and stamped committed by Alex

WINDOW	JUN	...	8/2	8/3	8/4	8/5	8/6	8/7	8/8	QUAL.	IMP.	SIGNAL	MY CALL
1 month	50	...	15	15	19	22	24	24	20	0.60	8	-2.88	Bear — the worst 1-month signal in the whole matrix, and got worse this cycle on a full-week correction

Committed P (Aug 8, full weekly): 20 / 28 / 41 / 56 / 77 · Weight: 20% (equal) · Impact: 8 (uniform) · Formula: Signal = ((P – 50) ÷ 50) × Quality × Impact. Full lineage: June committed 50/55/62/75/85 (Jun 19) → ... (see prior versions of this report for the full Jul 8–Aug 6 path) → Aug 7 24/31/41/56/77 (held — joint statement still unsigned, fee dispute still unresolved — committed and stamped by Alex) → Aug 8 20/28/41/56/77 (cut at 1mo/3mo — full-week re-verification surfaces five missed tanker attacks plus a new Saudi front) — committed and stamped by Alex.

THE THREE INPUTS, IN PLAIN ENGLISH

P — the odds this is good for crypto by then. Cut at 1mo/3mo: a full-week look (not just the last two days) surfaces five separate Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents between Jul 31 and Aug 5 — the LNG carrier Gaslog Shanghai struck and disabled (Jul 31), an explosion near a vessel off Oman (Aug 2), bulk carrier Minoan Pioneer hit with one crew member missing (Aug 3), and two more explosions near Kumzar (Aug 5) — bringing the IMO's cumulative incident count to 65 since the war began (Bloomberg/UANI), with Hormuz traffic described as "at a trickle." A genuinely new front also opened: Iran-backed Houthi forces struck Najran inside Saudi Arabia on Aug 7, wounding 11 civilians (Al Jazeera, CNN, Japan Times, OIC statement) — CNN's own framing: "Iranian-backed proxies targeted Saudi Arabia, widening conflict." The same day, Saudi Arabia, Turkey, and Pakistan signed a mutual-defense "Mecca pact" — a structural development raising the tail-risk ceiling given Pakistan's nuclear status, even though its intent is deterrence. Meanwhile Iran's touted Oman deal remains unsigned and one-sided as Iran itself describes it (a ban on American and Israeli vessels, fines up to 20% of cargo value — flatly rejected by Washington), and Trump's own Aug 2 "perimeters of a deal" claim was undercut two days later by his "unbelievably duplicitous" remark and Iran's denial that direct talks had even resumed. 6mo/12mo/36mo held — the longer-horizon case (war exhaustion, allied diplomatic pressure) is unchanged by this week's tactical noise.

Quality — how trustworthy the evidence is. This cycle's move rests on a full-week sweep of dated, multi-sourced shipping-incident reporting (Bloomberg, UANI, IMO) plus a dated, multi-sourced new-front event (Al Jazeera, CNN, Japan Times, OIC) — a more thorough evidentiary base than the two-day daily checks it corrects. Quality itself is unchanged this cycle per house rules.

Impact — 8 out of 10, the uniform value shared by every pillar in the equal-weight model. BTC closed at $65,006.64 on Aug 8, essentially flat vs. Aug 7 — continued resilience even as the Iran signal deteriorates, a genuine, if partial, decoupling from Iran-specific headline noise.

The Claim

The thesis, and where I differ from the consensus — updated August 8, 2026, full weekly refresh

The crowd (via the daily-cadence coverage this pillar itself has been reading): has spent the past week treating each day's headline in isolation — a quiet night here, a route-map "understanding" there, an "agreement reached" announcement — without stepping back to ask whether the cumulative week was actually better or worse than the one before.

Me: cutting 1-month to 20% and 3-month to 28% because a genuine full-week sweep tells a different story than the day-by-day one: five separate tanker/shipping incidents in seven days (not "no new attacks Aug 7-8," which was true but too narrow a window to judge), plus a conflict that widened to a new state (Saudi Arabia, via a Houthi strike on Najran) for the first time. Rhetoric on both sides — Trump's "perimeters of a deal," Iran's "finalized agreement" — has been more positive than the facts on the ground all week.

My edge: the crowd (and this pillar's own daily-touch process) is vulnerable to checking only "what happened since yesterday" and missing a slow-building pattern that only shows up over a full week. This cycle's correction exists specifically to catch that. 6/12/36-month hold because the longer-horizon case — war exhaustion, allied diplomatic pressure via the new Saudi-Turkey-Pakistan pact — is structurally unchanged.

The Facts

As of August 8, 2026, FULL WEEKLY refresh — hard numbers only, sources on the last page. New/independently-corrected facts appear first; the Jul 28-Aug 7 facts below are carried forward unchanged (still load-bearing).

- ★ ★ NEW — five separate Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents, Jul 31 - Aug 5, that daily two-day checks missed or undercounted. The LNG carrier Gaslog Shanghai was struck and disabled carrying Qatari LNG (Jul 31); a separate explosion hit near a vessel on the Omani side (Aug 2); bulk carrier Minoan Pioneer was struck in the engine room, suffering a blackout with one crew member missing (Aug 3); two more explosions were reported near Kumzar (Aug 5). The IMO's cumulative incident tally now stands at 65 since the war began (Bloomberg/UANI), with Hormuz traffic described as "at a trickle."
- ★ ★ NEW — a new front: Iran-backed Houthi forces struck Najran, Saudi Arabia on Aug 7, wounding 11 civilians (7 Saudi, 1 Yemeni, 2 Egyptian, 1 Pakistani, including a 4-year-old with burns). CNN's own headline: "Iranian-backed proxies targeted Saudi Arabia, widening conflict in Middle East" (Al Jazeera, Japan Times, OIC statement corroborate).
- ★ ★ NEW — Saudi Arabia, Turkey, and Pakistan signed a mutual-defense "Mecca" pact on Aug 7 (an attack on one is an attack on all) — a structural, deterrence-oriented development that nonetheless raises the tail-risk ceiling given Pakistan's nuclear status if Saudi Arabia is drawn further into the conflict.
- Aug 7-8 — Iran announced what it calls a finalized agreement with Oman on Hormuz shipping, banning American and Israeli vessels and fining violators up to 20% of cargo value (IRNA state media, corroborated by Fortune, NPR, Al Jazeera, Bloomberg) — Washington explicitly rejected these terms (NPR, Al Jazeera), insisting on zero tolls, permits, or approvals. The fundamental fee/sovereignty dispute is unresolved, not narrowed. This claim's specific draft terms trace to Fars News (Iranian state media, citing one parliamentarian) and should be labeled Iran-sourced, not independently verified.

- Correction: Trump's Aug 2 "perimeters of a deal" framing was contested by his own later remarks. Two days after claiming "the perimeters of a deal has been agreed to," Trump called Iranian leadership "unbelievably duplicitous," and Iran denied direct talks had even resumed — treat the Aug 2 claim as rhetoric outpacing substance, a pattern that recurred all week (positive announcements paired with continuing attacks or contradictions within 1-2 days each time).
- Brent held a $82-86/bbl range through the week — up modestly, not pricing a resolved crisis.
- BTC closed at $65,006.64 on Aug 8 — essentially flat vs. Aug 7's close of $65,000.00.

Carried forward from Aug 1-7 (still load-bearing):

- ★ Aug 7 — the Iran-Oman joint statement remained unsigned as of that check, still in final drafting. Iran's Foreign Ministry spokesman Baghaei described the statement outlining agreed points as under review and finalization, "provided certain third parties do not obstruct the process."

Carried forward from Aug 1-6 (still load-bearing):

- ★ Aug 6 — Iran and Oman reached an "understanding in principle" on the Hormuz route map. Iran's Deputy Foreign Minister Kazem Gharibabadi told IRNA: "an understanding in principle has been reached on almost all the raised issues, including the map for maritime traffic entry and exit routes" — confirmed by Bloomberg (two articles), CBS, Al Jazeera (two articles), Euronews, and Military.com.
- ★ Aug 6 — the fee dispute first surfaced as the remaining obstacle. Iran is seeking fees of 5-7% of cargo value from transiting ships; Oman is discussing fees around 3%; Washington wants zero fees. Eight shipping-lobby groups are already protesting the plan; Jerusalem Post separately reports sources saying the proposed passage deal is "not feasible for shipping industry."

Carried forward from Aug 1-5 (still load-bearing):

- ★ Aug 1 — the first quiet night in days. globalsecurity.org's day-by-day war tracker reported no new US strikes on Iran overnight Jul 31 following the heavy Jul 29-30 wave; Brent fell ~2% on the pause. Separately, a Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance for Gulf/Red Sea shipping protection was reported drawing backing from 14 countries.
- ★ Aug 1-2 — fresh, multi-source-corroborated attacks on Hormuz shipping. Bloomberg: a Qatari LNG tanker (Gaslog Shanghai) was struck while transiting the Strait. UKMTO/globalsecurity.org: a separate tanker was hit by an unknown projectile off Oman's Musandam Peninsula, its engine room damaged and the vessel disabled. These directly contradicted the Aug 1 "quiet night" framing — the pause was not durable.
- Aug 2 — the Saudi-led naval coalition kept solidifying. Al Jazeera, The National, DefenseMirror, and Tribune reported 14 confirmed member countries and 43 nations represented at a first coordination meeting in Riyadh — a genuine structural de-escalation-adjacent development, distinct from any single day's attack-or-lull headline.
- ★ Aug 4 — Trump canceled a planned joint US-Israeli strike on Iranian energy infrastructure. Multiple outlets (NPR, Axios, Al Jazeera, NBC, Washington Times, Breitbart, JPost, Townhall, CNN) reported the cancellation came after "the perimeters of a deal" were agreed over the Aug 1-2 weekend, reportedly including a full Strait of Hormuz reopening. No US strikes on Iran proper have been reported since the cancellation.
- Aug 4 — Iran continues to deny any direct US talks. Foreign Ministry spokesman Baghaei: "we currently have no negotiations with the United States; the negotiations are with Oman." Trump responded by calling Iranian leadership "unbelievably duplicitous."
- ★ Aug 4 — a bulker was struck by a projectile and suffered a full blackout in the Strait (globalsecurity.org, iranistrep.com) — active attacks continued even as the diplomatic framework was said to be forming.
- ★ Aug 5 — the first public terms of a 60-day interim Hormuz deal. Axios, Deccan Chronicle, Israel Hayom, InvestingLive, The National, and Al-Quds report the US, Iran, and Oman nearing an arrangement: inbound traffic via a northern lane in Iranian waters, outbound via a southern lane in Omani waters, no tolls or transit fees during the interim period, and a plan to clear naval mines from the median lane within 30 days. The US aimed to announce the deal Aug 6.

- Aug 5 — still unsigned. CNN quotes a Gulf official putting the odds of an Iran-Oman deal by Friday at only 50-50. The Strait remains formally impassable to normal traffic pending finalization.
- BTC closed at $64,661.55 on Aug 5 — up ~1.7% from the $63,579.68 close on Jul 31, continuing its resilience through a week where the war's own risk signal moved both up and down.

Carried forward from the July 30 full refresh (still load-bearing):

- ★ The lull was real, then it broke: Iran's IRGC struck a US/CENTCOM base at Muwaffaq Salti, Jordan (Jul 28). Confirmed by 5+ independent outlets (Al Jazeera, CNN, Axios, RT, JPost) — ballistic missiles/drones, described as a "surprise attack," all intercepted by US/Jordanian defenses, zero US casualties. This came after a genuine 2-3 day pause in CENTCOM strikes (Jul 25-27) and on the same day Trump was publicly touting "very friendly" talks with Netanyahu at the White House — both things happened.
- ★ The US retaliated with a "heavy wave of strikes" (Jul 29) — explosions reported at Bandar Abbas, Kish Island, Qeshm Island, and Khuzestan Province (CNN). Trump: "it's our turn to hit them." CNN's Jul 30 live coverage explicitly frames this as "US renews strikes on Iran as widening war pulls in more countries."
- ★ NEW FRONT — Iraq: US and Saudi Arabia conducted joint strikes on Iran-backed Popular Mobilisation Forces across Iraq (Jul 29), CENTCOM-confirmed, hitting sites in Baghdad, Wasit, Nineveh, Basra, Kirkuk, Karbala, and Diyala — 20 killed, 32 wounded (Al Jazeera, CBS News, Foreign Policy, 5+ outlets). Iraq's government called it a "flagrant violation of sovereignty." This is Saudi Arabia's first turn as a direct co-belligerent in this war. A claim that "six Iranian IRGC advisors" were also killed is single-source (unnamed Iraqi militia officials) — flagged, not used.
- ★ NEW FRONT — Egypt: a drone hit a US-owned FSRU vessel and a tanker at Egypt's Damietta port (Jul 29) — the first strike on Egyptian soil in this war (Al Jazeera, CNBC, Times of Israel). Fire contained, no injuries. No group has claimed responsibility; Houthis explicitly deny involvement — attribution remains unresolved.
- Brent rebounded from the lull-low. Brent fell to ~$90/bbl (-6.7%) during the Jul 25-27 lull, then rose back to ~$92-93/bbl by Jul 30 (+~3.5% day-over-day, +24.6% month-over-month) on the renewed strikes and widening war (Fortune). A previously-circulated "$87.53" figure could not be corroborated and is dropped from this report.
- Iran continues rejecting a direct-talks framing even as Trump claims progress. Iran FM spokesman Baghaei, Jul 27: "We have no negotiations with the United States at present" — directly contradicting Trump's public claims of productive talks. A regional 10-day ceasefire proposal (Qatar/Egypt/Oman/Pakistan) remains on the table, unaccepted; Iran separately rejected an Oman joint-Hormuz-management proposal on Jul 28, insisting on controlling its own lane.
- Congress split on competing War Powers resolutions (Jul 23, carried forward, no new action since): House passed a nonbinding one 214-208 (4 GOP defectors); the Senate's binding one failed 49-47.
- ★ The Pentagon casualty-count dispute (18 vs. 14) is confirmed stale, not a fresh Jul 30 event. The DCAS toll briefly rose to 18 (Jul 23) then reverted to 14 (Jul 24) amid a credibly-sourced dispute (NYT officials, Rep. Massie on record) over whether the reversion dodges the 90-day War Powers clock. This is the same dispute already logged last cycle — one daily touch this week re-cited the Jul 24 CNBC article as if it were new; it is not.
- Strait of Hormuz remains effectively closed to normal commercial traffic — ~10 transits/day versus a normal baseline near 88/day (IMF PortWatch), unchanged from prior cycles. IRGC, Jul 30: the Strait "will remain closed."
- No formal MoU withdrawal by either side. The 60-day window to ~Aug 16 remains intact and un-triggered.
- Israel remains out of direct engagement — no confirmed direct Israel-Iran exchange since June 7-8; the widened fronts (Iraq, Egypt) involve the US, Saudi Arabia, and unclaimed actors, not Israel.
- The "Layla" tanker claim (Jul 23) remains unconfirmed after a full week — AIS data dark, no primary confirmation found. Downgraded from "watch" to "discard pending new evidence."

- The baseline (still true, still load-bearing): June 2025 "12-Day War" — BTC dipped to a ~$98,225 intraday low, reclaimed $107k+ within days, a fast V. The far larger 2026 war still hasn't crashed crypto on Iran-specific grounds — BTC closed at $64,706 on Jul 30, even as the conflict spread to two new countries this week.

The Prize

Illustrative only — not price targets, not advice

The upside is still the "buy-the-invasion" rebound. Anchors: Russia–Ukraine (Feb 24, 2022) — BTC fell ~8% to a ~$34,300 intraday low, posted a +14.5% up-day on Feb 28, ended ~+25–29% above the low within a week (~+38% by late March). June 2025 rhymed: ~$98k dip, fully recovered within a week.

The most concrete evidence so far remains Aug 6's agreed-in-principle route map — but this cycle's full-week review shows the sides are further apart, and the week was more actively hostile, than the route-map framing suggested. BTC closed at $65,006.64 on Aug 8 — essentially flat vs. Aug 7, continued resilience even as this pillar's own signal deteriorated. If a fee/sovereignty compromise both sides actually accept gets signed and holds — and holds through a full week without a new tanker attack, not just a quiet news day — the upside case shifts from "the market shrugs off the next attack" to "a full corridor reopens and the risk premium currently priced into Iran's near-term signal unwinds for real" — a bigger, more durable prize than another muted-reaction data point. Still thin and still unsigned — Iran's own proposed terms (a US/Israel vessel ban, 20% cargo fines) are further from what Washington will accept than a rounding error, and the conflict just widened to a new state; the Prize doesn't feed the math — it tells you what the lean is worth acting on.

The Other Side

The strongest honest case this is wrong

- The correction itself might still be too small. Five tanker attacks in a week plus a strike on a fourth country (Saudi Arabia) is a genuinely worse pattern than a 4-point 1mo cut implies — a stricter read of "the war is actively widening, not stabilizing" could justify a larger move than this report is taking.
- Iran just publicly proposed terms Washington immediately rejected — that's a real gap opening, not closing. A ban on US and Israeli vessels plus 20% cargo fines is not a starting point for compromise with a US administration insisting on zero tolls and total freedom of navigation; if this is Iran's actual negotiating position, "close to a deal" may be badly overstated.
- The pattern all week has been progress-then-complication, and this cycle's own correction proves it. Aug 1's quiet night gave way to Aug 2's tanker attacks; Aug 4's canceled strike came with a bulker attack the same day; Aug 6's route-map understanding came with a fee dispute the same day; Aug 7-8's "finalized agreement" claim came with explicit US rejection and, this full-weekly review reveals, a fourth country coming under attack the same week. Each positive signal this pillar has scored has arrived paired with a negative one — treat that pattern, not any single day's headline, as the base rate.
- The new Saudi-Turkey-Pakistan defense pact could itself be read as escalatory, not stabilizing. A mutual-defense treaty involving a nuclear power (Pakistan) raises the theoretical ceiling on how bad this could get if any signatory is drawn into direct conflict — this report treats it as net-neutral/deterrence, but a bear case would weight the tail risk higher.
- Iran's state media announcement is not a negotiated agreement. A one-sided IRNA statement describing terms the other party rejects is not the same as a ratified, bilateral, government-binding agreement — prior cycles in this war have seen official statements walked back or superseded within days.
- Thin sample, still. The bullish long-term read rests on a handful of dip-and-recover events, all in a bull regime — geopolitical shocks don't always V-recover, and a route map with an unresolved fee dispute and a widening conflict is not obviously more durable than any of the prior lulls that broke within days.

The Triggers

Dated events ahead — some prove the claim right, some prove it wrong. Re-leveled August 8, 2026, full weekly refresh.

DATE	EVENT	MEANS
Jul 31 - Aug 5 — CONFIRMED, negative, missed by daily checks	Five separate Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents (Gaslog Shanghai, Oman-side explosion, Minoan Pioneer, two Kumzar explosions) — IMO tally now 65 incidents since the war began	Drove this cycle's 1mo/3mo cut — already IN this committed set
Fired Aug 7 — CONFIRMED, negative, new front	Iran-backed Houthi forces struck Najran, Saudi Arabia , wounding 11 civilians — the conflict's first widening to a fourth state	Contributes to this cycle's cut — already IN this committed set
Fired Aug 7-8 — rejected, net neutral	Iran announced a claimed Oman "agreement" (bans US/Israeli vessels, fines to 20% of cargo value) — Washington explicitly rejected these terms	Doesn't independently move the score — a one-sided announcement, not a resolution
Pending — the real trigger	Whether a fee/sovereignty compromise both Iran and the US can accept is actually signed AND holds through a full week without a new tanker attack	Resolved, signed, and durable = re-rate up meaningfully; talks stall, Iran's rejected terms harden, or attacks continue = re-rate down further
Structural, ongoing	Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance plus the new Aug 7 Saudi-Turkey-Pakistan mutual-defense pact	A genuine de-escalation-adjacent structural development, but the pact also raises tail risk given Pakistan's nuclear status
By ~Aug 16, 2026	Formal MoU withdrawal or 60-day window expires unsigned (not fired)	Diplomacy dead — re-rate 1/3/6-month down
By Dec 31, 2026	Final US–Iran nuclear deal signed — not fired, pending	De-escalation confirmed — re-rate up across windows

The flip line, re-leveled: a confirmed new US combat death, a resumption of direct US strikes on Iran proper, the conflict widening to a further new state, or a sustained Brent close above $100 = treat the dip-buy thesis as broken. As of Aug 8 we are not past that line, though the Najran strike is the closest this pillar has come to a further-widening trigger without fully tripping it. The equivalent upside flip: a signed Hormuz agreement the US actually accepts — not just Iran's own announced terms — that holds past a full week without a new shipping attack. Nothing so far has cleared that bar.

My Decision

✓ COMMITTED — AUGUST 8, 2026 (FULL WEEKLY REFRESH, SUPERSEDES TODAY'S LIGHT DAILY TOUCH) · STAMPED BY ALEX

Committed P: 20 / 28 / 41 / 56 / 77 · My Weight: 20% (equal) · Impact: 8 (uniform)

The Aug 7 catch-up (24/31/41/56/77, committed by Alex) remains the last stamped values. This cycle's full-week review corrects the running "hold flat" pattern: a full-week sweep (not just the last two days) surfaced five separate Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents (Jul 31 - Aug 5) and a new front (Houthi strike on Najran, Saudi Arabia, Aug 7) that the daily two-day checks missed or undercounted. 1mo cuts to 20 (was 24), 3mo cuts to 28 (was 31). Iran's claimed Oman "agreement" (banning US/Israeli vessels, fining up to 20% of cargo value) remains explicitly rejected by Washington and does not independently move the score.

1-year and 3-year held unchanged — the longer-horizon case (war exhaustion, allied diplomatic pressure via the new Saudi-Turkey-Pakistan pact) is structurally unchanged by this week's tactical developments.

Still a dip-watching pillar, not a panic-selling one — but this cycle's correction is a reminder that a week of "hold flat" daily touches can mask real cumulative deterioration if each check only looks back two days. The real test is still ahead: whether a fee/sovereignty compromise both Iran and the US can accept is actually signed AND holds. The real risk paths — a confirmed new US combat death, a resumption of direct strikes on Iran proper, the conflict widening further, or Brent sustaining a close above $100 — remain unfired, though Najran is the closest any has come.

This pillar's own move (4 points at 1mo, 3 at 3mo) stays well under the 8-point threshold, but the day's overall score set was held as a draft for two reasons: it was a full weekly refresh (never auto-stamped, per the runbook) and Fed & Macro moved enough elsewhere to also require Alex's manual review — see the Master Report's My Decision section. Alex has since reviewed both points and stamped the set committed, with no score changes.

Override any P and re-stamp — the master blend recomputes.

What Changed Since Last Check

FULL WEEKLY refresh, August 8, 2026 — supersedes today's earlier light daily touch, covering the Jul 30 - Aug 8 gap with a genuine full-week (not two-day) sweep.

- ★ ★ NEW — five Hormuz tanker/shipping incidents (Jul 31 - Aug 5) the daily two-day checks missed or undercounted: Gaslog Shanghai (Jul 31), an Omani-side explosion (Aug 2), Minoan Pioneer (Aug 3), two Kumzar explosions (Aug 5). IMO tally now 65 incidents since the war began.
- ★ ★ NEW — a new front: Houthi strike on Najran, Saudi Arabia (Aug 7), wounding 11 civilians — the conflict's first widening to a fourth state.
- ★ ★ NEW — Saudi Arabia, Turkey, and Pakistan signed a mutual-defense pact (Aug 7) — structural, deterrence-oriented, but raises tail risk given Pakistan's nuclear status.
- Iran announced a claimed "finalized agreement" with Oman banning US/Israeli vessels and fining violators up to 20% of cargo value (IRNA, corroborated by Fortune, NPR, Al Jazeera, Bloomberg) — Washington explicitly rejected these terms (NPR, Al Jazeera); does not independently move the score.
- BTC closed at $65,006.64 (Aug 8) — essentially flat vs. the Aug 7 close of $65,000.00.
- Score decision: 1mo 24 → 20 · 3mo 31 → 28 · 6mo/12mo/36mo held at 41/56/77. Reviewed and stamped committed by Alex: this was a full weekly refresh (never auto-stamped, per the runbook) and a different pillar's move also triggered manual review.
