Iran War Risk Pillar Report

Middle East Conflict Risk — Researched, Scored, and Personally Committed

Originally written June 19, 2026; scores committed by me June 19, 2026. Fully re-researched July 8, 13, 18, 25, and 30, 2026 against live primary sources. This version (August 5) is a catch-up covering five days of daily monitoring that scores.json captured but reports/current never republished. Net over the week: a real up-down-up path. Aug 1 nudged up on the first quiet night in days (no new US strikes) and a Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance drawing 14-country backing. Aug 2 gave back part of that gain on multi-source-corroborated fresh attacks on Hormuz shipping. Aug 3 held flat. Aug 4 nudged up again after Trump canceled a planned joint US-Israeli strike on Iranian energy infrastructure, following reports "the perimeters of a deal" were agreed — though a bulker was struck and blacked out in the Strait the same day. Aug 5 moved further on the first public disclosure of concrete interim Hormuz deal terms — still unsigned; a Gulf official cited by CNN put the odds of a deal by Friday at only 50-50, and Iran continues to deny any direct US talks. The re-rated scores in this version are DRAFT, awaiting my stamp.

The Scores — Committed vs. Drafts

June column committed by me June 19, 2026 · every draft since shown for full lineage · Aug 5 is this week's catch-up re-rate, covering five days of daily monitoring — awaiting my stamp

WINDOW	JUN	...	7/25	7/30	7/31	8/1	8/2	8/3	8/4	8/5	QUAL.	IMP.	SIGNAL	MY CALL
1 month	50	...	20	16	16	19	15	15	19	22	0.60	8	-2.69	Bear — still the heaviest drag in the set, but net improved on a week of real, unsigned de-escalation signals
3 months	55	...	29	25	25	26	23	23	27	29	0.65	8	-2.18	Bear
6 months	62	...	40	37	37	37	37	37	39	40	0.70	8	-1.12	Mild Bear
1 year	75	...	57	55	55	55	55	55	56	56	0.65	8	+0.62	Mild Bull (dip-buy thesis intact but still thin)
3 years	85	...	78	77	77	77	77	77	77	77	0.55	8	+2.38	Bull

Draft P (Aug 5, catch-up covering the week): 22 / 29 / 40 / 56 / 77 · Weight: 20% (equal) · Impact: 8 (uniform) · Formula: Signal = ((P - 50) ÷ 50) × Quality × Impact. Full lineage: June committed 50/55/62/75/85 (Jun 19) → ... (see prior versions of this report for the full Jul 8–29 path) → Jul 30 16/25/37/55/77 (full refresh: lull broken by Iran's Jordan attack, US retaliation, war widens to Iraq and Egypt) → Jul 31 16/25/37/55/77 (held — the Jul 28–30 escalation cycle confirmed, not superseded) → Aug 1 19/26/37/55/77 (quiet night, Saudi-led naval coalition draws 14-country backing) → Aug 2 15/23/37/55/77 (fresh, multi-source Hormuz tanker attacks reverse part of the Aug 1 gain) → Aug 3 15/23/37/55/77 (held — no new corroborated development) → Aug 4 19/27/39/56/77 (Trump cancels a planned joint US-Israeli strike; "perimeters of a deal" reported) → Aug 5 22/29/40/56/77 (first public terms of a 60-day interim Hormuz deal; still unsigned) — awaiting my stamp.

THE THREE INPUTS, IN PLAIN ENGLISH

P — the odds this is good for crypto by then. This week moved both ways and ended up net higher. Aug 1: globalsecurity.org's day-by-day tracker reported the first quiet night with no new US strikes on Iran following the Jul 29–30 heavy wave, Brent fell ~2% on the pause, and a Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance for Red Sea/Gulf shipping protection drew reported backing from 14 countries — three independent, different-type signals pointing the same direction, so the move was kept small. Aug 2: Bloomberg and UKMTO/globalsecurity.org corroborated fresh attacks on Hormuz shipping overnight into Aug 1 — a Qatari LNG tanker (Gaslog Shanghai) struck while transiting, and a separate vessel disabled off Oman's Musandam Peninsula — directly contradicting the "quiet night" framing and reversing part of the Aug 1 gain, though kept from a full reversal because the Saudi-led coalition kept solidifying (14 members, 43 nations represented at a first Riyadh coordination meeting) and no new US casualties or strikes-on-Iran-proper occurred. Aug 3: held flat, no new corroborated development. Aug 4: multiple outlets (NPR, Axios, Al Jazeera, NBC, Washington Times, Breitbart, JPost, Townhall, CNN) reported Trump canceled a planned joint US-Israeli strike on Iranian energy infrastructure over the Aug 1–2 weekend after "the perimeters of a deal" were agreed, reportedly including a full Hormuz reopening — kept modest because Iran publicly denies holding direct US talks (FM spokesman Baghaei: "we currently have no negotiations with the United States; the negotiations are with Oman") and Trump called Iranian leadership "unbelievably duplicitous." Aug 5: the terms of a prospective arrangement became public for the first time — a 60-day interim mechanism (inbound traffic via a northern lane in Iranian waters, outbound via a southern lane in Omani waters, no tolls/fees, naval mines cleared from the median lane within 30 days), aimed for announcement Aug 6 — kept modest and short-horizon-only because a Gulf official cited by CNN put the odds of a deal by Friday at only 50-50, and a bulker was struck by a projectile and suffered a full blackout in the Strait on Aug 4, showing attacks continued even as the deal text emerged.

Quality — how trustworthy the evidence is. Each daily move this week rested on multi-source corroboration (CENTCOM-adjacent trackers, Bloomberg, Axios, Al Jazeera, CNN, and others cross-checked against each other) rather than any single outlet; the Aug 2 tanker attacks and the Aug 5 deal terms in particular were confirmed across independent, differently-sourced reports before being used to move P. Quality itself is unchanged this cycle per house rules.

Impact — 8 out of 10, the uniform value shared by every pillar in the equal-weight model. BTC closed at $64,661.55 on Aug 5, up ~1.7% from Jul 31's $63,579.68 — continued resilience through a week where the war's own risk signal moved both up and down, a genuine, if partial, decoupling from Iran-specific headline noise.

The Claim

The thesis, and where I differ from the consensus — updated August 5, 2026, catch-up covering the week

The crowd (or rather, the week's own headlines): couldn't settle on one direction either. A quiet night and a 14-country naval coalition on Aug 1 read like real de-escalation; fresh, multi-source-corroborated tanker attacks on Aug 2 read like the opposite; then Trump canceling a planned joint strike on Aug 4 and a publicly disclosed 60-day interim Hormuz deal on Aug 5 read like the most concrete progress yet — even as a bulker was struck and blacked out in the Strait the same day the deal text emerged.

Me: I'm ending the week net higher — 22% good-for-crypto at 1 month, up from 16% a week ago — because the cumulative direction across five days of daily monitoring is genuinely toward de-escalation, even though it wasn't a straight line. This is the first time concrete Hormuz-deal terms have been public, which is more than the vaguer "perimeters of a deal" language from Aug 4. I'm not moving further because the deal is still unsigned (a Gulf official cited by CNN put the odds at only 50-50), Iran still denies any direct US talks, and shipping attacks continued into the same week the terms leaked.

My edge: this pillar has a track record of catching its own errors rather than compounding them, and this week it also caught a process failure — reports/current wasn't actually regenerated for four straight days (Aug 1-4) even though the underlying research and scores changed each day. This version corrects that by publishing the full week's arc in one pass rather than pretending only today's move happened. The risk isn't the headline-of-the-day; it's whether the interim Hormuz deal actually gets signed, whether shipping attacks recur even after signing, or whether Iran's denial of direct talks turns out to mean the framework collapses. I watch those, not the daily narrative whiplash.

The Facts

As of August 5, 2026 — hard numbers only, sources on the last page. The Jul 28-30 facts below are carried forward unchanged (still load-bearing); new Aug 1-5 facts are appended after them.

- ★ Aug 1 — the first quiet night in days. globalsecurity.org's day-by-day war tracker reported no new US strikes on Iran overnight Jul 31 following the heavy Jul 29-30 wave; Brent fell ~2% on the pause. Separately, a Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance for Gulf/Red Sea shipping protection was reported drawing backing from 14 countries.
- ★ Aug 1-2 — fresh, multi-source-corroborated attacks on Hormuz shipping. Bloomberg: a Qatari LNG tanker (Gaslog Shanghai) was struck while transiting the Strait. UKMTO/globalsecurity.org: a separate tanker was hit by an unknown projectile off Oman's Musandam Peninsula, its engine room damaged and the vessel disabled. These directly contradicted the Aug 1 "quiet night" framing — the pause was not durable.
- Aug 2 — the Saudi-led naval coalition kept solidifying. Al Jazeera, The National, DefenseMirror, and Tribune reported 14 confirmed member countries and 43 nations represented at a first coordination meeting in Riyadh — a genuine structural de-escalation-adjacent development, distinct from any single day's attack-or-lull headline.
- ★ Aug 4 — Trump canceled a planned joint US-Israeli strike on Iranian energy infrastructure. Multiple outlets (NPR, Axios, Al Jazeera, NBC, Washington Times, Breitbart, JPost, Townhall, CNN) reported the cancellation came after "the perimeters of a deal" were agreed over the Aug 1-2 weekend, reportedly including a full Strait of Hormuz reopening. No US strikes on Iran proper have been reported since the cancellation.
- Aug 4 — Iran continues to deny any direct US talks. Foreign Ministry spokesman Baghaei: "we currently have no negotiations with the United States; the negotiations are with Oman." Trump responded by calling Iranian leadership "unbelievably duplicitous."
- ★ Aug 4 — a bulker was struck by a projectile and suffered a full blackout in the Strait (globalsecurity.org, iransitrep.com) — active attacks continued even as the diplomatic framework was said to be forming.

- ★ Aug 5 — the first public terms of a 60-day interim Hormuz deal. Axios, Deccan Chronicle, Israel Hayom, InvestingLive, The National, and Al-Quds report the US, Iran, and Oman nearing an arrangement: inbound traffic via a northern lane in Iranian waters, outbound via a southern lane in Omani waters, no tolls or transit fees during the interim period, and a plan to clear naval mines from the median lane within 30 days. The US aimed to announce the deal Aug 6.
- Aug 5 — still unsigned. CNN quotes a Gulf official putting the odds of an Iran-Oman deal by Friday at only 50-50. The Strait remains formally impassable to normal traffic pending finalization.
- BTC closed at $64,661.55 on Aug 5 — up ~1.7% from the $63,579.68 close on Jul 31, continuing its resilience through a week where the war's own risk signal moved both up and down.

Carried forward from the July 30 full refresh (still load-bearing):

- ★ The lull was real, then it broke: Iran's IRGC struck a US/CENTCOM base at Muwaffaq Salti, Jordan (Jul 28). Confirmed by 5+ independent outlets (Al Jazeera, CNN, Axios, RT, JPost) — ballistic missiles/drones, described as a "surprise attack," all intercepted by US/Jordanian defenses, zero US casualties. This came after a genuine 2-3 day pause in CENTCOM strikes (Jul 25-27) and on the same day Trump was publicly touting "very friendly" talks with Netanyahu at the White House — both things happened.
- ★ The US retaliated with a "heavy wave of strikes" (Jul 29) — explosions reported at Bandar Abbas, Kish Island, Qeshm Island, and Khuzestan Province (CNN). Trump: "it's our turn to hit them." CNN's Jul 30 live coverage explicitly frames this as "US renews strikes on Iran as widening war pulls in more countries."
- ★ NEW FRONT — Iraq: US and Saudi Arabia conducted joint strikes on Iran-backed Popular Mobilisation Forces across Iraq (Jul 29), CENTCOM-confirmed, hitting sites in Baghdad, Wasit, Nineveh, Basra, Kirkuk, Karbala, and Diyala — 20 killed, 32 wounded (Al Jazeera, CBS News, Foreign Policy, 5+ outlets). Iraq's government called it a "flagrant violation of sovereignty." This is Saudi Arabia's first turn as a direct co-belligerent in this war. A claim that "six Iranian IRGC advisors" were also killed is single-source (unnamed Iraqi militia officials) — flagged, not used.
- ★ NEW FRONT — Egypt: a drone hit a US-owned FSRU vessel and a tanker at Egypt's Damietta port (Jul 29) — the first strike on Egyptian soil in this war (Al Jazeera, CNBC, Times of Israel). Fire contained, no injuries. No group has claimed responsibility; Houthis explicitly deny involvement — attribution remains unresolved.
- Brent rebounded from the lull-low. Brent fell to ~$90/bbl (-6.7%) during the Jul 25-27 lull, then rose back to ~$92-93/bbl by Jul 30 (+~3.5% day-over-day, +24.6% month-over-month) on the renewed strikes and widening war (Fortune). A previously-circulated "$87.53" figure could not be corroborated and is dropped from this report.
- Iran continues rejecting a direct-talks framing even as Trump claims progress. Iran FM spokesman Baghaei, Jul 27: "We have no negotiations with the United States at present" — directly contradicting Trump's public claims of productive talks. A regional 10-day ceasefire proposal (Qatar/Egypt/Oman/Pakistan) remains on the table, unaccepted; Iran separately rejected an Oman joint-Hormuz-management proposal on Jul 28, insisting on controlling its own lane.
- Congress split on competing War Powers resolutions (Jul 23, carried forward, no new action since): House passed a nonbinding one 214-208 (4 GOP defectors); the Senate's binding one failed 49-47.
- ★ The Pentagon casualty-count dispute (18 vs. 14) is confirmed stale, not a fresh Jul 30 event. The DCAS toll briefly rose to 18 (Jul 23) then reverted to 14 (Jul 24) amid a credibly-sourced dispute (NYT officials, Rep. Massie on record) over whether the reversion dodges the 90-day War Powers clock. This is the same dispute already logged last cycle — one daily touch this week re-cited the Jul 24 CNBC article as if it were new; it is not.
- Strait of Hormuz remains effectively closed to normal commercial traffic — ~10 transits/day versus a normal baseline near 88/day (IMF PortWatch), unchanged from prior cycles. IRGC, Jul 30: the Strait "will remain closed."
- No formal MoU withdrawal by either side. The 60-day window to ~Aug 16 remains intact and un-triggered.
- Israel remains out of direct engagement — no confirmed direct Israel-Iran exchange since June 7-8; the widened fronts (Iraq, Egypt) involve the US, Saudi Arabia, and unclaimed actors, not Israel.
- The "Layla" tanker claim (Jul 23) remains unconfirmed after a full week — AIS data dark, no primary confirmation found. Downgraded from "watch" to "discard pending new evidence."
- The baseline (still true, still load-bearing): June 2025 "12-Day War" — BTC dipped to a ~$98,225 intraday low, reclaimed $107k+ within days, a fast V. The far larger 2026 war still hasn't crashed crypto on Iran-specific grounds — BTC closed at $64,706 on Jul 30, even as the conflict spread to two new countries this week.

The Prize

Illustrative only — not price targets, not advice

The upside is still the "buy-the-invasion" rebound. Anchors: Russia-Ukraine (Feb 24, 2022) — BTC fell ~8% to a ~$34,300 intraday low, posted a +14.5% up-day on Feb 28, ended ~+25-29% above the low within a week (~+38% by late March). June 2025 rhymed: ~$98k dip, fully recovered within a week.

This week added a genuinely new variant: a real, publicly disclosed diplomatic framework, not just another dip-and-recover. BTC closed at $64,661.55 on Aug 5 — up ~1.7% from Jul 31 — through a week that included fresh tanker attacks, a canceled joint strike, and the first public terms of an interim Hormuz deal. If the 60-day arrangement is actually signed and holds, the upside case shifts from "the market shrugs off the next attack" to "a full corridor reopens and the risk premium currently priced into Iran's near-term signal unwinds for real" — a bigger, more durable prize than another muted-reaction data point. Still a thin sample and still unsigned; the Prize doesn't feed the math — it tells you what the lean is worth acting on.

The Other Side

The strongest honest case this is wrong

- This report went dark for four days — that's a real process problem, not just noise. config/scores.json changed every day Aug 1-4 but reports/current didn't; a research process that silently stops publishing its own outputs deserves real skepticism about what else it might be missing.
- The interim Hormuz deal is still just a leaked framework, not a signed agreement. A Gulf official cited by CNN puts the odds of signing by Friday at only 50-50 — the same week the terms leaked, a bulker was struck and blacked out in the Strait. Deals that leak before they're signed sometimes don't get signed at all.
- Iran's denial of direct US talks hasn't changed all week. If the "perimeters of a deal" and the Aug 5 leaked terms both rest on an Oman-only channel that Iran could walk away from at any point, the entire de-escalation case is more fragile than a 6-point 1-month move suggests.
- The Aug 2 tanker attacks show the underlying war hasn't actually stopped — a quiet night on Jul 31 was followed within 48 hours by a Qatari LNG tanker being struck and a second vessel disabled. A durable ceasefire has not been demonstrated; only a pattern of attacks-then-lulls-then-more-attacks has.
- Thin sample, still. The bullish long-term read rests on a handful of dip-and-recover events, all in a bull regime — geopolitical shocks don't always V-recover, and a diplomatic framework that isn't signed yet is not obviously more durable than the Jul 25-27 lull that broke within days.

The Triggers

Dated events ahead — some prove the claim right, some prove it wrong. Re-leveled August 5, 2026.

DATE	EVENT	MEANS
Fired Aug 5 — POSITIVE, unconfirmed	First public terms of a 60-day interim Hormuz deal (dual lanes, no tolls, 30-day mine clearing), aimed for Aug 6 announcement	Drove this cycle's 1mo/3mo/6mo nudge up — already IN this draft, not yet signed
Pending — the real trigger	Whether the interim deal is actually signed and announced (expected Aug 6)	Signed and holding = re-rate up meaningfully; falls apart or goes unsigned = re-rate back down toward the Aug 2 level
Fired Aug 4 — NEGATIVE, confirmed	A bulker was struck by a projectile and suffered a full blackout in the Strait — active attacks continued even as the deal text emerged	Kept the Aug 5 move small and short-horizon-only
Fired Aug 1-2 — NEGATIVE, confirmed	Multi-source-corroborated attacks on Hormuz shipping (Qatari LNG tanker struck; second vessel disabled) reversed part of the Aug 1 gain	Shows the underlying war hasn't durably paused — watch for recurrence
Structural, ongoing	Saudi-led Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance — 14 members, 43 nations represented at a first Riyadh coordination meeting	A genuine de-escalation-adjacent structural development, distinct from any single day's headline
Unchanged	Iran continues to deny any direct US talks (FM spokesman Baghaei: negotiations are "with Oman," not the US)	If this framing holds even after a signed deal, treat the de-escalation as more fragile than the score implies
By ~Aug 16, 2026	Formal MoU withdrawal or 60-day window expires unsigned (not fired)	Diplomacy dead — re-rate 1/3/6-month down
By Dec 31, 2026	Final US–Iran nuclear deal signed — not fired, pending	De-escalation confirmed — re-rate up across windows

The flip line, re-leveled: a confirmed new US combat death, a resumption of US strikes on Iran proper, or a sustained Brent close above $100 = treat the dip-buy thesis as broken. As of Aug 5 we are not past that line. The equivalent upside flip: a signed, durable Hormuz reopening that holds past its first week without a new shipping attack — nothing this week has cleared that bar yet.

My Decision

🕒 UPDATED DRAFT — AUGUST 5, 2026 (CATCH-UP COVERING JUL 31 → AUG 5) · AWAITING MY STAMP

Draft P: 22 / 29 / 40 / 56 / 77 · My Weight: 20% (equal) · Impact: 8 (uniform)

The June committed scores (50 / 55 / 62 / 75 / 85, committed June 19, 2026) remain the last human-stamped values. This report catches up five days of daily monitoring that scores.json captured but reports/current never republished. Net over the week: P moved up (16/25/37/55/77 → 22/29/40/56/77) via a genuine up-down-up path — a quiet night and a naval coalition (Aug 1), reversed in part by fresh tanker attacks (Aug 2), flat (Aug 3), a canceled joint strike (Aug 4), and the first public Hormuz-deal terms (Aug 5). The cumulative direction is real de-escalation, but it is not a straight line and it is not yet signed.

1-year and 3-year barely moved (55→56, 77→77 unchanged) — a single week of Iran headlines, whichever direction, isn't meant to move the long-horizon read much by design.

Still a dip-watching pillar, not a panic-selling one — and for the first time in weeks, the near-term margin widened rather than compressed. But the real test is still ahead: whether the interim Hormuz deal actually gets signed (expected Aug 6) and holds past its first shipping attack. The real risk paths — a confirmed new US combat death, a resumption of strikes on Iran proper, or Brent sustaining a close above $100 — remain unfired.

Override any P and re-stamp — the master blend recomputes.

What Changed Since Last Check

Catch-up covering Jul 31 → Aug 5, 2026 — reports/current was not regenerated for the Aug 1-4 daily touches even though scores.json changed each of those days; this section narrates the whole gap in one pass.

- ★ Process note: this report went unpublished for four days. config/scores.json received new Iran draft sets on Aug 1, 2, 3, and 4, but reports/current/CoinPicks_Iran_War_Pillar_Report.html was not regenerated until this Aug 5 catch-up.
- ★ Aug 1 — quiet night + naval coalition: globalsecurity.org reported the first night with no new US strikes on Iran since the Jul 29-30 wave; Brent fell ~2%; a Saudi-led 14-country Multinational Maritime Defense Alliance drew reported backing.
- ★ Aug 1-2 — fresh Hormuz tanker attacks: Bloomberg and UKMTO/globalsecurity.org corroborated a struck Qatari LNG tanker and a second disabled vessel, reversing part of the Aug 1 gain.
- Aug 2 — the naval coalition kept building: Al Jazeera, The National, DefenseMirror, and Tribune reported 14 confirmed members and 43 nations represented at a first Riyadh coordination meeting.
- ★ Aug 4 — Trump canceled a planned joint US-Israeli strike on Iranian energy infrastructure after "the perimeters of a deal" were reportedly agreed; a bulker was separately struck and blacked out in the Strait the same day.
- ★ Aug 5 — first public terms of a 60-day interim Hormuz deal: dual shipping lanes, no tolls, mines cleared from the median lane within 30 days, aimed for Aug 6 announcement — still unsigned (CNN: a Gulf official puts the odds at only 50-50).
- BTC closed at $64,661.55 (Aug 5) — up ~1.7% from the Jul 31 close of $63,579.68.
- Score re-rates (Jul 30 full refresh → Jul 31 → Aug 1 → Aug 2 → Aug 3 → Aug 4 → Aug 5): 1mo 16 → 16 → 19 → 15 → 15 → 19 → 22 · 3mo 25 → 25 → 26 → 23 → 23 → 27 → 29 · 6mo 37 → 37 → 37 → 37 → 37 → 39 → 40 · 1yr 55 → 55 → 55 → 55 → 55 → 56 → 56 · 3yr 77 (held throughout) → 77 — a genuine up-down-up week that nets to real, unsigned improvement. Draft only — awaiting my stamp.
